

Free Consultation - Struggling Learners

We at The Learning House have had a heart for struggling learners from the beginning. In fact, The Learning House began as the result of Harold and Louise House looking for materials for their children who struggled to read. Please do not hesitate to speak with Louise about your specific situation, as she would count it a privilege to offer suggestions, encouragement, and support. Schedule a phone consult or an in-person visit with her at the store. Like all of our consults, this is offered free of charge to encourage parents in their homeschool journey.

At a consult you can expect:

- Seasoned advice from over 20 years of homeschool experience
- Opportunity to look throughout our retail store
- Analysis and suggestions by Louise
- Presentation of various curriculum and programs
- Hands-on experience (being able to look through books instead of just online!)
- Try out our demo computer featuring programs like Switched-on Schoolhouse, Brainbuilder, Typing Instructor and more!
- Personal recommendations on where to look for advice regarding special needs, legal advice and more!
- A whole section of BJU Press demos and a large selection of AOP demos
- And more! Each consultation experience is unique

Got children? Our store is equipped with a small play area, tables and chairs for browsing in comfort and a baby changing station. We are also located in the beautiful town of Goderich with a wonderful beach on the shores of Lake Huron. Why not make a day of it? Come visit us and then enjoy some fun in the sun!

If you come to visit our store and we do not have stock of an item you are looking for, it is our policy to send it to you with a free ship (does not include BJU Distance Learning).
